The Mail on Sunday

Survation.

Methodology

Fieldwork Dates

31st August – 1st September 2017

Data Collection Method

The survey was conducted via online panel. Invitations to complete surveys were sent out to members of the panel. Differential response rates from different demographic groups were taken into account.

Population Sampled

All residents aged 18+ in the United Kingdom.

Sample Size

1,046

Data Weighting

Data were weighted to the profile of all UK adults aged 18+. Data were weighted by age, sex, region, household income, education, 2017 General Election and 2016 EU Referendum vote. Targets for the weighted data were derived from Office for National Statistics 2011 Census data and the results of the 2017 General Election and 2016 EU Referendum.

Margin of Error

Because only a sample of the full population was interviewed, all results are subject to margin of error, meaning that not all differences are statistically significant. For example, in a question where 50% (the worst case scenario as far as margin of error is concerned) gave a particular answer, with a sample of 542 it is 95% certain that the 'true' value will fall within the range of 4.2% from the sample result. Subsamples from the cross-breaks will be subject to higher margin of error, conclusions drawn from crossbreaks with very small sub-samples should be treated with caution.

Voting Intention

In order to assess voting intention, we first asked respondents how likely they would be to vote in another general election on a scale of 0-10. This likelihood to vote for was then used to weight voters' responses, such that respondents replying "10" were weighted by a factor of 1.0, whilst those responding "9" were weighted by a factor of 0.9, and so on.

Respondents were then asked who they would be most likely to vote for, If the election were tomorrow, with the responses "Labour", "Conservative" and "Liberal Democrat" prompted in a randomised order, and other parties displayed if respondents selected "Another Party". For respondents in Scotland and Wales, "SNP" and "Plaid Cymru" respectively were included in the main prompt. Respondents in Northern Ireland were asked the same question, with "DUP", Sinn Fein", "UUP", "SDLP" and "Alliance Party" prompted in a randomising order.

As an additional weighting step, respondents who replied "undecided" and "refused" were then removed from the sample. Undecided respondents were then re-inserted into the sample based on a factor of which party they voted for in the 2015 general election.

A change from our previous Mail on Sunday poll, published July 15th 2017, is that UKIP are now not prompted in the initial party prompt, in the same way that we do not initially prompt for the Green Party.

Political Poll

Question presentation

All data tables shown in full below, in order and wording put to respondents, including but not limited to all tables relating to published data and all relevant tables preceding them. Tables for demographic questions might not be included but these should be clear from the cross-breaks on published tables. In all questions where the responses are a list of parties, names or statements, these will typically have been displayed to respondents in a randomising order. The only questions which would not have had randomising responses would be those in which there was a natural order to maintain – e.g. a scale from "strongly agree" to "strongly disagree", a list of numbers from 0 to 10 or questions which had factual rather than opinion-related answers such as demographic information. "Other", "Don't know" and "Refused" responses are not randomised.

Not all questions will have necessarily been asked to all respondents – this is because they may be follow-on questions from previous questions or only appropriate to certain demographic groups. Lower response counts should make clear where this has occurred.

Q30. By Normal Weighting
Q30. The Labour Party under Jeremy Corbyn has moved closer to 'soft Brexit' by saying Labour supports the UK staying in single market and customs union during a Brexit transition period after we leave in 2019. With that in mind, to what extent do you agree or disagree with Labour's approach to Brexit?
