

GE 2017 Telephone Voting Intention Final Poll

07/06/2017

Prepared by Survation

Methodology

Fieldwork Dates

6th – 7th June 2017

Data Collection Method

The survey was conducted via telephone. A systematic random sample of telephone numbers in postcodes corresponding to the constituency, balanced to age, sex & region targets, were called.

Population Sampled

All residents aged 18+ in Great Britain.

Sample Size

2,798

Data Weighting

Data were weighted to the profile of all Great British adults aged 18+. Data were weighted by age, sex, region, 2015 General Election vote and 2016 EU Referendum vote. Targets for the weighted data were derived from Office of National Statistics data, the results of the 2015 UK General Election and the 2016 EU Referendum.

Margin of Error

Because only a sample of the full population was interviewed, all results are subject to margin of error, meaning that not all differences are statistically significant. For example, in a question where 50% (the worst case scenario as far as margin of error is concerned) gave a particular answer, with a sample of 2,798 it is 95% certain that the 'true' value will fall within the range of 1.9% from the sample result. Subsamples from the cross-breaks will be subject to higher margin of error, conclusions drawn from crossbreaks with very small sub-samples should be treated with caution.

Voting Intention

In order to assess voting intention, we first asked respondents how likely they would be to vote in the next election on a scale of 0-10. This likelihood to vote for was then used to weight voters' responses, such that respondents replying "10" were weighted by a factor of 1.0, whilst those responding "9" were weighted by a factor of 0.9, and so on down to responses of "0" being excluded altogether.

Respondents were then asked who they would be most likely to vote for if that election were tomorrow, with the actual candidates standing in respondent's constituencies prompted in a randomising order. As an additional weighting step, respondents who replied "undecided" and "refused" were then removed from the sample.

As a further step, undecided respondents were then 'squeezed' regarding their voting intention if the election was in fact today. The candidates were prompted again if the respondents required, and the results were redistributed into the original voting intention.

Question presentation

All data tables shown in full below, in order and wording put to respondents, including but not limited to all tables relating to published data and all relevant tables preceding them. Tables for demographic questions might not be included but these should be clear from the cross-breaks on published tables. In all questions where the responses are a list of parties, names or statements, these will typically have been displayed to respondents in a randomising order. The only questions which would not have had randomising responses would be those in which there was a natural order to maintain – e.g. a scale from “strongly agree” to “strongly disagree”, a list of numbers from 0 to 10 or questions which had factual rather than opinion-related answers such as demographic information. “Other”, “Don't know” and “Refused” responses are not randomised.

Not all questions will have necessarily been asked to all respondents – this is because they may be follow-on questions from previous questions or only appropriate to certain demographic groups. Lower response counts should make clear where this has occurred.

Data were analysed and weighted by Suration.

GE2017 Telephone Voting Intention Poll

Q1. Normal weightings
Q1. The General Election is due to be held tomorrow, Thursday the 8th June 2017. On a scale from 0 to 10, where 0 means you are definitely not going to vote, 10 means that you definitely are going to vote and 5 is in the middle of the two. How likely do you think you will be to vote in your constituency at the General Election tomorrow, or have you already voted by post?
